

Some common strengths¹

You may be surprised that:

S/he has a good visual eye

- ❖ S/he may be able to arrange the furniture in the classroom very effectively.

S/he's very imaginative and skilful with her/his hands

- ❖ S/he may be able to make the best models.

S/he's practical

- ❖ S/he may be able to work the computer before the others - even perhaps repair it. S/he may be able to start the car when others have failed.

S/he's mad on sport

- ❖ S/he may excel at individual sports.

S/he's got a fantastic imagination

- ❖ S/he may be able to tell wonderful stories if her/his long term memory is good.

¹ The Dyslexia Institute Website: <http://www.dyslexia-inst.org.uk>